

RELIGIOUS TRADITIONS IN THE FACE OF THE CRISIS OF THE LIBERAL SYSTEM

The case of Islam

Religions newly play a considerable role in the public space, to an extent that was hardly imaginable until recently. In the new century, religiosity seems to consist of a flourishing of beliefs and belongings – but in the context of secularised societies. This leads to the risk of ephemeral 'DIY (do it yourself)' and unscrupulous spiritualities, borrowing "updated" symbols from traditional beliefs, for purposes that often do not relate to the experience of 'genuine' religiosity.

The void that has emerged with the crisis of the great secular ideologies of the last century cannot be filled by a trivializing appeal to religious-racial identities, which often results in an increasingly widespread and worrisome religious illiteracy as well as in a 'politicization'. Understanding these dynamics does not only mean describing and analysing them, but involves the delicate task of imagining possible strategies to channel useful energies into initiatives to counter problematic deviances.

h. 9.30

Welcome and Introduction

Angelo BIANCHI, Dean of the Faculty of Letters and Philosophy Marco RIZZI, Director of the Department of Religious Studies

h. 10.00

First Session: History

Paolo BRANCA, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore
Arabic Thought in the Liberal Age d'Albert Hourani 37 ans après

Mostfa MOHAMED-ALI, Maître de conférences - Université Catholique de Lyon

Le bricolage religieux. Entre ambivalence et domestication des symboles

Fr. Paolo NICELLI, Pime - Venerable Ambrosian Library Islām and Religious Plurality in South-East Asia

h. 11.30

Second Session: Is the Past coming back?

Fabio INTROINI, Giulia MEZZETTI, Università Cattolica
del Sacro Cuore - ISMU

An ecological perspective for exploring jihadist radicalization processes. A theoretical proposal

Michele ESPOSTI-ONGARO, PhD, University of Pavia - Pluriel
History Teaching and Reorientation of History in the Public School Textbooks of the Gulf Countries. The Case of Kuwait

Paolo GONZAGA, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore - Pluriel Islamic Radical Literature: from the Muslim Brothers to Isis

h. 13.00-14.30

Lunch buffet

h. 14.30-17.30

Third Session: Experiences from the fields

Antonio CUCINIELLO, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore - ISMU

Interpreting the Muslim World in some Italian Textbooks

Marco DEMICHELIS, University of Navarra

The "Ijazah" of Education. New Identities and History for a non-radicalized perspective of Islam in Europe

Davide TACCHINI, F-Schiller-Universität, Jena, Germany
Human Mobility, Refugees and Reconciliation in the MENA Region

Khaled QATAM, Former Prof. of Arabic, University of Parma
The image of the current Islamic guides and its reflection in the new Muslim generations

Conclusions and perspectives

Mons. Khaled AKASHEH, Bureau Chief for Islam at the Pontifical Council for Inter-Religious dialogue
Le Document d'Abou Dhabi sur la Fraternité humaine, pour la paix mondiale et la coexistence commune signée par le pape François et le Grand Imam d'al-Azhar

Illustrazione di Ali Hassoun (Milano-Beirut), Primavera Araba

International conference

Wednesday 9th October 2019

Room NI.010-011, h 9.30-17.30

Via Nirone, 15 - Milano

Informazioni e contatti:

Michela Iannone

Dipartimento di Scienze Religiose

Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore

Largo A. Gemelli 1 – 20123 Milano

Tel. 02-7234.2287

E-mail dip.scienzereligiose@unicatt.it

UNIVERSITÀ
CATTOLICA
del Sacro Cuore